Tips for Looking After Your Skyer

Once you have purchased your Skyer it is very important to remember that it must be carefully looked after. With a little bit of care and attention, the lifetime of your Skyer can be dramatically improved. We have put together a few guidelines in order to help you look after your Skyer.

The Skyer is not to be used as a cricket bat, it is purely a training aid designed to hit cricket balls in fielding practice. Videos of how to use the Skyer can be found on our website (www.fusionsports.co.uk).

Do not use your Skyer in the nets. Please ensure you only hit good quality cricket balls with your Skyer. It is not advisable leave your Skyer in the rain or to hit wet cricket balls with it.

We also advise that you try and keep the exposure of your Skyer to extreme temperatures to a minimum. You should store your Skyer in a cool, dry atmosphere during the off-season, making sure it is well away from any heat or dampness.

There is no need to knock in or oil your Skyer.

We also recommend that you keep your Skyer in a protective cover in order to reduce damage inside your cricket bag.
